PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION OF SHOOTING

TEN WITNESSES HEARD

Following a preliminary investigation into the shooting of Charles and Elmer Ferris, and William Johnson, all colored, held at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon before Justice W. S. Snow in the police court, Walter Johnson, colored, charged by the police with the shooting, was held for the action of the grand jury without bail. Ten persons testified. They, however, shed but little light on the triple shooting. The prisoner did not take the stand. Johnson is represented by Attorneys Charles Henry Smith and Carl Budwesky and the state was represented by Commonwealth's Attorney Howard W. Smith.

The six shooter revolver, a long barreled affair, was exhibted at the hearing. The prisoner paid close attention to the testimony given.

Emma Williams, colored, was the first witness called. Police Sergt. Wilknson said that he was endeavoring to find out information from a colored man named Ephriam Brown, when the woman remarked to Brown to "shut up."

Ephriam Brown, colored, of Springfield, Va., who was on a wagon with a load of wood at the time, t old the court he was half a square away at the time of the shooting.

According to Robert Smith, colored, he carried William Johnson, who was shot in the leg, to the hospital.

The testimony of N. O. Fitzgerald was that he was at Pitt and Wilkes streets at the time and the prisoner was the only man he saw who did any shooting. Witness said he first was attracted by two shots fired in rapid succession.

William Stokes, colored, told the court that prior to the shooting he was on King street with William Johnson, and that a colored man came up and theratened to also beat William Johnson. A second man came up. Witness told the court he saw the man named William Johnson lying in the grass after being shot. Witness, however, said he did not see the shooting.

Margaret Reynolds, colored, told the court she did not know anything about the shooting.

Rose Jackson, colored, said she witnessed the shooting. She ran to her front door upon hearing a woman remark, "Don't shoot him." Before she reacher her door one shot was fired and this was followed by the firing of two shots. Witness saw no other pistol. Following the shooting she testified that Walter Johnson ran through her yard. The prisoner she testified looked like the man who fired two times. The men were engaged in a scuffle when she first saw them.

Chief of Police Goods said the shooting started over a dog.

Jesse Ferris, brother of two of the men shot, testified that on Thursday the prisoner while at Pitt and Gibbon streets pulled out a pistol and drew it on him. A dog belonging to witness and the prisoner's dog engaged in a fight and this was the starting of the trouble he declared.

According to Haywood Ferris, colored, also brother of two of the men shot, his brothers did not have a gun.

The condition of Elmer and Chas. Ferris, was unchanged it was stated at the hospital this afternoon by Dr. Llewellyn Powell. Both men, are in a critical condition, and little hope is entertained for their recovery. The condition of William Johnson,(who was shot in the leg, is progressing satisfactorily and his leg will not have to be amputated, although it is badly shattered.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 29.—Royal A Haynes, U. S. Prohibition Commissioner, is going to do everything in his power to prevent the sale of beer and other beverages as medicine. He was away from Washington when Secretary of the Treasury Mellon issued the reguiations authorizing the manufacture of malt liquors to be sold by retail druggists on prescriptions from physicians. Haynes does not believe that any real beer which the brewers may have in stock at present can be turned over to the trade for sale. He says the brewers were given permits to make cereal beverages only, drinks with less than one half of one per cent. of alcohol. Haynes says the law provides that these brewers must make a new supply of beer before they can turn it over to the druggists for sale. But Secretary Mellon and Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair hold different views. They say that any real beer that may be on hand at present can be sold and used as medicine. A nice little row is in prospect.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, on December 28, will establish a new record for longevity in the national Congress. He will then have beaten the existing record made by the late Senator William B. Allison, of Iowa, who served in the House and Senate in all 43 years and five months.

"Uncle Joe" has no near competitor for service entirely in the House. He has had 25 consecutive nominations from the same district and 23 elections. He was for 10 years chairman of the Appropriations Committee and eight years Speaker. Although 86 years old, the former speaker is in very good health and attends the House sessions regularly participating in the debates when matters of public importance are up for consideration.

According to statistics prepared by the U. S. Census Office 54.4 per cent. of the homes occupied in the United States are rented. Only 28.2 per cent. of the occupants own their own homes with the property free from encumbrance. Seventeen and five-tenths per cent. of the homes are owned by the occupants but are heavily mortgaged. The bureau listed 24,351,676 homes in the country. The term "home" the bureau said, signified the abiding place of a family and did not necessarily denote an entire dwelling.

Attorney General Daugherty is redrafting a tentative report and recommendation in the pardon appeal case of Eugene V. Debs, serving a ten year term for violation of the espionage act. The report of the Attorney General is expected to go into the whole question of amnesty for political prisoners as the points in the Debs case are closely related to those in a large number of other applications for pardon or commutation.

It is believed that final decision may be expected from the White House within a short time, probably soon after the treaty of peace between Germany and the United States is formally exchanged.

The more the Republican politicians in Washington hear about the recent speech of President Harding delivered at Birmingham with respect to the negro question the more they are convinced that he committed a blunder in making any reference to this subject in the very heart of Dixie. They point out that there was no occasion for the speech and that he would have done better if he had left unsaid the statements he made in Alabama. But the President had the speech in his system and he had to get rid of it somehow. What political effect it will have upon the country, especially in the South, is problematical.

The White House is taking on its winter attire. Workmen are busy just now removing plants and shrubs that thrive in the summertime and substituting therefor cedar trees and other winter greens around the entrances to the Executive Mansion. It is expected that the President and Mrs. Harding will do some extensive entertaining during the social season and the conservatories are being fitted up with beautiful plants which will add color to the surroundings.

HOME FOLKS' COLUMN
By R. S.

A Father's Tribute.

Down the rippling tide of the beautiful Potomac, where the historic old stream widens until Virginia is only a hazy dream of mauve and greenish grey, a creek makes in the Maryland shore. It appears on the nautical chart as a tiny vein not of sufficient importance to bestow upon it a name, yet it is known to the sailors and to the oystermen, as well as to the locality from whence its waters spring, by the simple name, Smith. Perhaps it is in honor of the doughty captain who intrepidly explored these waters. It may have originated at a later date, taking on the name, as small streams are wont to do, of some early settler along its's banks. Viewed from a canoe, yea, tossed about like a chip upon its bosom Smith creek is not tehtiny ribbon the chart would have us believe. Instead, it stretches its yawning mouth full a mile wide. A wayfaring breeze flutes it into soft ruffles and cascades, while a spanking one makes it bristle turbulently and slap upon the shore and curl around the rotten piling of ancient wharves and boat landings.

The morning was calm, however, my log book tells me, and it was the fifteenth day of August. We had left Point Lookout with its deep-throated roar of mingled Bay and River, and had glided into calm waters in our frail cockleshell of a boat, relieved for the time being of keeping her nose to, or fighting white caps with our blades.

Smith Creek was unknown to us, but we were aware that somewhere up toward the fountain of it, was the little village, Wynne, and at Wynne could be found the post office where we hoped to intercept a load of mail that we knew had been following us around "hither and yon" as the old crabber expressed it. Our unfamiliarity with the surroundings caused us to effect a landing at an oyster wharf which stretched itself on barnacled piles, full length, like a huge centipede into the water. If centipedes lived near water, which they do not.

High hills of bleaching shells bore mute evidence of the strenuous tonging and husking season. All was deserted now, the empty sheds standing whitewashed and in apple pie order for the approaching month whose "R" ushers in the "fry-stew-broiled 'r scalloped."

The winding road was dusty, and to the side of it corralled within a paling fence in diverse stages of dilapidation, a stately mansion thrust great chimneys upward, high it seemed, in order to escape the embrace of encroaching creeper and drouth-dried weeds. It was vacant, staring with sightless eyes out upon the stream that in the first days of its existence doubtless gazed daily upon indian canoe, and the white man's dugout.

Old mansions had so long been our hobby that ordinarily we would have passed this one by with a casual survey. Yet two features it bore, that were different. Two distinctive marks that stamped it patrician to the heart. On one end, the brick chimney was built double, and abutting the wide-mouthed fireplace within, another similiar, but of larger proportions, turned into the yard. So cavernous it was, that I stood upright within and looked away upward to the tiny square patchwork of blue that shone through at the opening.

Then, on the waterward side of the house, from a high window, was suspended a powerful lens, which reflected the noon sun, but could not tell us it's mission, or whose hand placed it there.

It is one of the unwritten laws on the social register of men, that if you can't find out something you wish to knew real badly, go ask the barber shop, at the same time it was soothing and restful to lie tilted back and listen to the soft drawl of the barber's voice as he talked in harmony with the droning of the electric clippers.

Te told us everything he knew. Stories he had in plenty, having served several enlistments on one of Uncle Sam's men of war. We went with him through the Gulf, and the waters of Cuba, Steamed through the canal, kissed the Philipines, lazed on the Mediterranean and Far Away Lands, and finally wound up just where we were, on Smith Creek.

We came to and asked him about the dingy brick mansion hidden in the straggling orchard by the shore. He didn't know exactly in fact, no one knew any more to a certainty. Just when it was built. It was as ancient, every bit of it, as we had surmised. The brief legend concerning the chimney was still told, however. It goes on that the old gentleman who reared this imposing pile of imported sun-dried bricks was a gourmand, and of nothing was he so fond as baked ham. A smokehouse such as his wilderness neighbors used, did not suit his persnickety fancies altogether so this mammoth fireplace was especially constructed for the smoking of choice hams. It may have been thus that the fame of Maryland's wonderful hams grew. We can attest to the hams, and we know what was told us. The light in the window, he related, was the kindly idea of an old seaman, Captain Lewis. Gystering

WASHINGTON'S INITIATION INTO MASONRY

169th Anniversary To Be Celebrated Next Friday Night

JOINT CELEBRATION

Senators Heflin And Harrison To Make Speeches—Representatives of 16 Lodges Invited

George Washington was made a Mason by Fredericksburg Lodge of Masons one hundred and sixty-nine years ago next Friday night November 4, and a joint celebration in honor of the occasion will be held by Alexandria-Washington Lodge, and Andrew Jackson Lodge, both lodges of this city. The celebration will takep place at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Elks' Home.

The speakers for the evening will be Senator Heflin, of Alabama, Pat Harrison, of Mississippi.

Many of the grand lodge officers will be here to participate in the event and in addition there will be many senators and representatives here it is expected. Representatives of sixteen lodges in this section have been invited to attend the celebration, including delegations from Prince William, Fairfax, Loudoun and other nearby counties.

In additon to the speaking the committee in charge of the plans has arranged for a musical program to be given that evening.

It is expected that the affair will be attendd also by a large delegation of local members of the craft.

This will be the first celebration of any magnitude held by the local lodge. Previous celebrations of this event have been held exclusively by Alexandria-Washington Lodge of which Washington was first master, and which is named in his honor.

Social Happenings

The past week has been no less than a reaction after the gayety of last week's calendar, for little or no social events have taken place. Contrary to former seasons there are no indications that a German or Cotillion Club will be organized this year. However, this may be attributed to the lack of male members which are essential in the Terpsichorean pastime.

Last year the Cotillions were bright spots in the year's events and it is hoped that this season may witness the organization of a similar club. Not since the well known and popular German Club disbanded at the outbreak of the war has there been a permanent organization.

During the war the numerous camps surrounding Alexandria offered sufficient diversion and society, and the lovers of the gayety found most of their spare time occupied with parties at Humphrey's and other camps and this naturlly, together with the transient population dispersed all thoughts of a lasting club.

The Baby Show in the Young People's Building last Tuesday was an interesting event. So many pretty and well developed babies were entered that the judges had a difficult problem in deciding on the winners. A number of the yougerr members of the Auxiliary board to the hospital served tea downstairs, giving the affair a social atmosphere.

Hallowe'en with all its charm and mysteries will provide some gayety Monday. The playgrounds will have unique entertainment, that is, unique in the annals of Alexandria. An "al fresco" party with witches and masked figures should, and will be a charming affair, and a prize will be offered for the best costume.

A number of delightful parties are planned for Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh Mayo have issued invitations for a fancy dress party at their home in Duke street, and Miss Marjorie Hall, daughter of the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, has asked a few friends in Monday night. Most of Miss Hall's guests will be from Washington, her former home.

Mrs. Charles F. Holden has returned from Roanoke, where she was called by the illness of her brother.

Mrs. Jay Edge, of Downingtown, Pa., and Master Toppy Edge and Miss Sarah Edge, are spending the week with Mrs. John Hunton Foster, at her home in Cameron street.

TO APPEAL DOG CASE

Court Orders Dog of Mrs. W. H. Ramey Either Destroyed or Taken Out of City

A collie dog at the residence of Mrs. William H. Ramey, 1109 Duke street, today ws held by Police Justice Snow to be a nuisance and the court ordered that the dog either be destroyed or sent out of the city. However, Attorney Frank Stuart noted an appeal to the corporation court and it is proposed to make a fight to save the life of the canine and let him remain at the owner's home.

Policeman Snellings was the complainant against the dog, testifying yesterday that the dog barks almost continuously, making sleep in the day time almost out of question.

Mrs. Ramey today produced two witnesses, who testified that the dog has never annoyed them and they live in close proximity to her home. They also added that at times they sleep during the day.

The decision of the higher court in this case is awaited with considerable interest and it probably will be the first appel case to the corporation court to save the life of a dog.

LADIE'S NIGHT SUCCESS

Affair Under Direction of Westminster Bible Class

There was a large attendance of ladies at the Bowling Alleys of the Westminster Building Thursday night and great deal of interest was shown in the games.

Thursday evenings have been set aside by the class as "Ladies' Night" and it is hoped that, not only the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, but of all denominations will come out and enjoy the games. Besides being a lot of fun it is mighty good exercise and we know you will not regret the effort it may cost you to come out.

There seems to have been some misunderstanding as to the evenings set aside for ladies. For the benefit of all, we will again publish the schedule. Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings are for men. Thursday evenings for the ladies and Friday evenings for the boys.

MARSHAL FOCH WELCOMED BY HUGE CROWDS

FORMALLY GREETED

French War Leader Expresses Appreciation of Reception Tendered Him

Washington, Oct. 29.—Speeding toward Washington on one of the fastest special trains ever run by the Pennsylvania Railroad, Marshal Foch used last night, on the eve of the greatest struggle ever to be undertaken by the nations of the world for peace, and paid tribute to the men who had fought under him in war.

It was just outside Baltimore that the Marshal received the newspaper people who were traveling with him from New York. He had dined well and was just ready to smoke his after dinner cigar in the private car which had been reserved for his espcial use. Leaning nonchalantly against small wicker table, one hand clasping the unlighted cigar, the Marshal said, through M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, who acted as his interpreter:

"These are my thoughts: I am very proud and deeply touched by the reception given me in New York today. This reception did not surprise me in view of the knowledge I had of the American people through their fighters that I had seen at work. I have been very happy that the same sentiments animate all the people of New York

"These manifestations are more stringing, more spontaneous. They are nothing official and they are the true language of the people, who say, 'We wanted you to do what you have done.'

"I have been most proud and happy to be received here as I am by the American Legion, with which I am bound by special ties and which manages perfectly well my journey in America and I am certain they are going to manage it excellently to the end."

As he spoke Marshal Foch's eyes lighted up with all the animation characteristic of the Gallic countenance. He looks like his photographs There is the same grizzly hair, the same rugged lines of determination limning the face of a man who, exposed to the hardships of a warrior, still keeps his body in excellent physical trim. And his eyes are the eyes of a man "who has read with men in the open book of death."

Previously, on his arrival in New York, the Marshal had given vent to similar praise of the American fighter. Then he said:

"These soldiers whom I had the honor to lead in 1918 on the battle fields of France, brave and gallant in the performance of the duties of war, I am now to have the deep pleasure to see displaying in the work of peace the same qualities which made their strength and glories throughout the war."

It is characteristic of the man. There is no thought of himself, of the man who has just received the greatest ovation ever given the triumphant hero of a foreign country. His thoughts were of the men who fought with him, who made the victory possible, and it was apparent that it was in their name that he received the tribute of America.

TODAY'S THOUGHT What rage for fame attends both great and small! Better be damned than mentioned not at all.
John Wolcott.

THE RACE QUESTION

We regret exceedingly that President Harding saw fit to intrude his ideas on the race question at Birmingham the other day. To say the least, it was ill-advised. What he said served emphatically to display his lack of knowledge of the deep, ethnologic truths that underlie the whole situation. He is right in one respect,—the problem is national and not sectional. Unless we are mistaken it will become world-wide before the human race is done with it. Some day we propose to take this question up and go into it more or less exhaustively. It must be traced back to its source before its present status and bearing can be analysed. Causes must be known in order to understand effects. Race prejudice is ages deep and co-extensive with the tides. As we see it, mankind has no more serious task confronting it in the not remote future than the race-question; and that means the color-question!

A TIMELY SPEECH

A few days ago Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, delivered in the United States Senate a speech that may be regarded as one of the best and most timely addresses before that body in years. It occurred during the debate on the treaty with Germany, and was a brilliant defense of the League of Nations and the treaty of Versailles.

Senator Sheppard has given the people a most thorough and exhaustive review of the work of the League since its inception. As printed by the Government printer it contains 158 pages, and is a monument to the industry and discernment of the Senator. We know of no document of recent times that is more likely to increase in historic value as the years go by. It should be read by the citizenship of the United States at large. It conclusively proves that the League of Nations is a live instrumentality among the world's peoples today, and that it is the first harbinger of universal peace that has thus far taken shape in history. Twenty-four nations formally subscribed to its provisions two years ago, and today fifty-one nations are active members. This country is conspicuous by its absence, but we believe the time will come when it, too, will add its name to the list of those enlightened nations who have beheld the Gleam and followed its radiance.

We congratulate Senator Sheppard on the fruits of his labors. They are refreshing, indeed, in these times of sordid politics and partisan narrowness.

SPORTS

Tomorrow, at 3 p. m., on the Ship yard grounds, the well known Crystal A. C., of this city, will clash with the fast record team of Virginia, also of Alexandria. Everyone welcome, and no admission will be charged to see the locals perform.

That's the home of backache.

Alexandria people testify to their worth. Ask your neighbor! Read a case of it:

Mrs. Martha L. Byrne, 209 Wilkes St., made the following statement on November 3, 1910: "I was suffering severely from backache and pains all through my body. My kidneys were certainly badly disordered. I was steadily becoming run down. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and I kept on using them and now enjoy good health and do not hesitate to give all the credit to Doan's."

Over eight years later, on March 14, 1919, Mrs. Byrne added: "Doan's Kidney Pills keep my kidneys in a good healthy condition. I use them occasionally and have found them a fine remedy."

You remember the story of the Pitcher—

It made a good many trips to the well and it came back in good order.

"I can take care of myself," it said—"they don't need to talk about risks to me."

But it went once too often.

After that it was only part of a pitcher, and they didn't need to talk to it about risks—it knew.

"Nonsense!" they say, "it never disturbs me."

When it does disturb them, then they know.

Often the disturbance which they then recognize is the result of irritations to nerves and digestion which have been going on for a long time.

If you have to lie awake at night and count the clock ticks, after an evening cup of coffee, then you know that it's better to be safe than sorry.

The risk of coffee's harm is gone when the meal-time drink is Postum.

Here's a delightful and satisfying table beverage, with charm for the taste and without harm for nerves or digestion. You know you're on the right road with Postum; there's never the possibility that you'll go once too often.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

ATTRACTIONS NEXT WEEK IN WASHINGTON

SIR HARRY LAUDER AT POLI'S

William de Mille Production At Moore's Rialto

Conway Tearle Returns to Speaking Stage

Sir Harry Lauder

Sir Harry Lauder, the famous Scottish minstrel, will be at Poli's, Washington, for a week beginning next Monday. Sir Harry is too well known to require any particular comment, but it is interesting to learn that he will make known several new and characteristic songs during his engagement at Poli's. Matinees are announced for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

William de Mille's Latest

A fascinating story of stage life is William de Mille's latest picture, "After the Show," which opens a week's engagement at Moore's Rialto Theatre, Sunday, October 30. Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Charles Ogle, the feature players, appear to fine advantage in their respective roles.

Mr. Holt as a millionaire "angel" of a musical comedy of the chorus of which Lila Lee is a member, and Mr. Ogle as an old disappointed stage door keeper, contribute much to the enjoyableness of the picture. There are many dramatic and pathetic scenes artistically portrayed, while the production as a whole is fully up to the high artistic de Mille standard.

Conway Tearle's Return

Conway Tearle, after three years in moving pictures, will return to the stage at the Shubert-Garrick Theatre next Monday night, in Mr. Scarborough's play, "The Mad Dog." The play, of three acts, pictures a story of the Mexican border and while seething with action has a delightfully happy ending.

At the Gayety

The "Big Jamboree" will be the attraction at the Gayety next week, starting Sunday. Frank Hunter, the popular Black Face Comedian, will be there to make you laugh and enjoy every minute of the show.

REPUBLICAN CLUB
Alexandria, Virginia.
October 27th, 1921.

Editor Alexandria Gazette:
Dear Sir:

After carefully reading your editorial of the 24th. inst. headed "Slandering Virginia" one is compelled to admit that as a violent denunciation of ex-Senator Butler for daring to speak in Virginia on "Conditions in Virginia," and as an exposition of the failings of other States, it is very comprehensive. As an answer however to Senator Butler's address we fail to find in your article one single sentence, that refutes in any particular, the facts as to conditions in Virginia, as he so ably presented them; We take it then, that you do not question the accuracy of his statements, but denounce him for speaking about conditions here, when the same conditions exist in his own State.

The fact that those conditions do exist in other States is no excuse for their existence in Virginia, and when you critisize the vote cast in the two States of North Carolina and Ohio, it would be well to note that in the last election, North Carolina cast two votes to every one in Virginia and Ohio cast ten votes to our one, or a total of over 2,000,000.

We are not concerned with the problems of other States, but, we are most emphatically concerned with the problems confronting this State, and as Citizens and property owners we are proceeding in the only possible way to correct those conditions, and that is, to build up opposition so strong that the Democratic Ring now ruling the State with an iron hand will be compelled to give heed to the demands of the people, or suffer the fate that sooner or later comes to those who through arrogance and blind egotism imagine that they are greater than the citizens who placed them there.

Your assertion that the statements as to conditions in Virginia were received with "rancous laughter," deserves only the contempt it richly merits; certainly no person who owns property in Virginia, or who has children to educate, would indulge in so-called "raucous laughter" when confronted with the grave problems that exist in Virginia today.

In the last paragraph of your editorial, you express the hope that no more imported orators be brought to Alexandria; may we inquire if that desire includes the Hon. Bourke Cochran advertised in the Gazette to address a Democratic meeting in Alexandria? If so, we congratulate you.

The Hon. Bourke Cochran, mouthpiece in Congress of Tammany Hall, the organization that former President Wilson was compelled to repudiate, and set up a rival organization to defeat their candidate for Mayor of New York; or is it possible that the Democratic machine in Virginia seeks to emulate Tammany and has invited Mr. Cochran here for the express purpose of initiating them into the particular brands of political iniquity for which Tammany Hall is noted? If that is so, then it is indeed time for the citizens of Virginia to assert their independence and vote to overthrow the party that is responsible for the difficulties that beset them.

Respectfully yours,
Chas. S. Stoler,
Chairman, Publicity Committee Republican Club.

Smith Williams, formerly of this city, but now living in McLean, Va., was in the city yesterday.

TOO WEAK TO WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Quinly's Health. Now She Does Her Housework

Shelbyville, Mo.—"I was only able to do light housework because for months my periods were excessive. I had seen your medicine extensively advertised and thought I would give it a fair trial. I took about eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets according to directions and I feel like a different woman. I have not taken any medicine during the past three months and I believe my ailment is cured. I am now able to do all my housework and attend to my poultry and garden. If you feel that my testimonial will benefit anyone you are welcome to use it in your advertisements."—Mrs. L. D. QUINLY, R. F. D. No. 2, Shelbyville, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women strong, healthy and able to bear their burdens and overcome those ills to which they are subject.

REO

Ask Any Reo Owner

Best way to ascertain facts relative to preformance, dependability, riding quality, durability, and upkeep of any car is to inquire of owners just as you meet them.

You will be surprised how many will refuse eo recomend the make of car they are now driving.

You see, they have learned a lot, both about their own and other makes of cars, since a salesman told them this detail of outward appearance, or that of mechanical novelty.

When you ask Reo Owners, however you will be amazed at the precentage who will preface their replies by, "This is my third Reo." or "I have driven Reo cars for fifteen years," or similar assertions that say more than all the laudation that may follow.

That's because Reo owners, in their day to day experience, know the absolute dependability of Reos, and by comparisons have learned that Reo is almost unique in that regard.

When it comes to selecting a new car the Reo owner almost invariably says—"Why experiment?—I know what a Reo will do."

Ask Reo owners—ask ten in a row—and your selection will be a Reo.

For Reo Owners are our best salesmen.

GIFTS FOR THE First Hallowe'en Baby

That Halloween Baby

First One Born After Midnight Of October 30 Will Receive Many Gifts

Here is where the first baby born on Hallowe'en morning gets his or her first start in the game of life.

On this page will be found the advertisements of nine of the most progressive merchants of the city who are offering prizes to the first youngster who sets up a lusty wail after midnight tomorrow night, and the gifts are on a par with those offered last year.

The winner of the Hallowe'en contest will be announced about November 10, at which time the official returns of the physicians will be made and the first baby born on Hallowe'en morning will be declared the lucky youngster through the office of the Health Department of the city.

The advertisements will be inserted again at that time and the parents of the winning baby or babies will be given orders on the merchants taking part in the contest, these orders calling for the prizes offered by each individual merchant.

Considerable speculation was caused by a similar contest which was conducted by the merchants of the city and the Gazette last year and it is expected that the contest this year will be watched with an equal amount of interests.

Parents are requested to have the attending physician make his returns of October to the Health Officer as early as possible after November first, so that the winner of the contest can be announced earlier than November 10, if possible.

ence how much money he leaves when he dies your children are positively saved from the pain of poverty and ignominity of ignorance, all to the Mooseheart protection which he has pruchased.

It is part of your duty to help make this protection the best that can possibly be secured.

I have no doubt that it has been one of your greatest desires to become a supporter and partner in the building of Mooseheart in the making of a great home for the little sons and daughters of your departed brothers.

Mrs. Eva M. Simms, Senior Regent.
Mrs. Florence Vernon, Recorder.

Junior Order of Moose.

Ten reasons why your son or your neighbor's son should be a member.

3rd—Because it inspires the young man with its four great principles, love, aspiration, truth and self control.

4th—Because it is a great school for education in Americanism.

5th—Because it brings the young man into intimate relations with thousands of his kind all over the country.

6th—Because it affords unusually fine social opportunities in lodge halls and club rooms for education, recreation, and engagement in athletic activities.

7th—Because it trains the young man in fraternalism which includes more than 16,000,000 of the people of the United States.

8th—Because it offers generous sick and death benefits.

9th—Because it acquaints the young man early in life with Mooseheart and its opportunities, privileges, benefits and advanced ideas of education, and the latest humanitarian enterprise.

10th—Because it prepares the young man for efficiency and value in the Loyal Order of Moose when he transfers at twenty-one years of age.

Seminole Tribe No. 35 Improved Order Red Men

Seminole Tribe will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting in their wigwam in Alexandria National Bank Building on Thursday evening November 3rd. The business meeting of the tribe will start promptly at 7.30 p. m. after which the Adoption Degree will be conferred on a class of palefaces. On last Wednesday a delegation of members of Seminole Tribe visted Osceola Tribe No. 1 of this city and assisted in conferring the degree of adoption on a class of 7 palefaces. Osceola Tribe has invited the degree team of Seminole Tribe to confer the Warrior's and Chief's Degree on next Wednesday night and all members of the degree team are requested to be present in the wigwam of Osceola Tribe on next Wednesday night at 7.45 p. m.

Silver Moon Council No. 15 Degree of Pocahontas.

The members of Silver Moon Council No. 15 who went on the tramping party last Monday night are still talking about the great time they had on the hike and many requests have been made to the committee in charge of the hike to have another party of this character sometime in the near future.

On Monday, November 14, the council will confer the degree of the order on a class of 25 palefaces and from the interest that is being shown by the members it won't be long before Silver Moon Council will be the banner council of the State.

Knights of Pythias

Oriental Lodge No. 6, Knights of Pythias met in regular convention last Tuesday with a large membership in attendance. Several applications were presented and others acted upon. The Rank Team is rehearsing at every meeting and next Tuesday will confer the Rank of Page upon seven candidates. A large attendance is desired and all members of the order from other lodges are cordially invited to meet with us.

Alexandria Lodge No. 1 at its regular meeting held on October 21, at

Royal Order of Red Deer

Old Elks' Hall, corner of Royal and Prince Streets held a regular business meeting which was well attended and matters of interest discussed.

On the First Friday in November, which will fall on November 4, nomination of officers for the ensuing term will be in order. It is desired that if possible the entire membership be present as a very interesting meeting is anticipated.

Osceola Tribe Red Men

One of the most enjoyable lodge meetings held this season was on Wednesday by Osceola Tribe of Red Men. The adoption degree was conferred on five pale faces and a large number of their friends were witnesses.

On next Wednesday evening the Warrier's degree will be conferred and a smoker will be given. Seminole Tribe is especially invited and another good time is promised.

Knights of Columbus

The annual visitation of the State Deputy of Virginia occurred this past Wednesday evening when Brother Blake, of Richmond, was on hand for the installation of the newly elected officers and for the exemplification of the first degree of the order. The degree work and installation took place at St. Mary's Hall, and at the conclusion all went to the new K. of C. headquarters at the corner of St. Asaph and Cameron streets, where the members enjoyed interesting addresses from the State Deputy, the District Deputy, Rev. Father Nott of Richmond; Rev. Joseph Kelly, of this city and the Rev. Louis Smet, chaplain of the local organization. The State Deputy spoke on the great welcome given the Knights of Columbus at their recent National Convention at San Francisco. The entertainment committee had provided for smokes, and in all a most enjoyable evening was spent.

The Knights of Columbus will make a journey to Falls Church on November 9th to hold the regular monthly meeting of the order. A committee has been appointed to look after the matter of transportation.

Brother William M. P. Desmond, former Lecturer of the Council, who has been confined to the Episcopal Ear and Throat Hospital, Washington, is now home, and is gradually improving.

One of the recent candidates of the Knights of Columbus came sixty-five miles to receive his degree. After it was over he expressed himself as willing to have come one hundred and sixty miles—the degree so appealed to him.

Journals all over the country are unanimous in their praise of "Columbia" the national publication of the order. The reading matter is very interesting, and treats of a diversity of subjects, so that every member will find therein something of particular interest to him.

The new club rooms have an excellent Victrola. The selections on the records run all the way from the jaziest of fox trots to the most dignified of high operas. Come around and try them out—you'll enjoy them.

(This column will be published each week on Saturday, and is open to all Fraternal Orders of the city. Contributions should be sent to the Fraternal Editor so as not to reach this office later than Friday morning —Editor.)
